

This image can be used to give a very atmospheric effect. Mask out the sun and then apply, wash over the whole sky with raw sienna and a lemon wash, while this is still wet add stonger slightly darker washes creating a halo effect.

In this image I want to create movement in the clouds, they are being blown from right to left and coming up and towards us. Try painting a blue patch in the top right-hand corner, and flattening of the cloud angle as they near the horizon.
